

Robin White
Director, Business Development
Chase Paymentech

Robin White brings close to a decade of experience in the payments industry. She is responsible for business development in the geographic footprint of Chase Paymentech's Commercial Bank for Government, Not-for-Profit and Healthcare (GNPH) business sector. She works closely with GNPH clients and prospects to understand their payment processing needs and works to present a comprehensive processing solution. Robin brings experience from other functional areas within Chase Paymentech which include Technical Sales Consulting, Client Relations, Payment Relations, etc., to bring a highly specialized consulting approach to understanding the ever-changing complexities of your industry's processing needs, PCI compliance and technological advancements.

Robin earned a bachelor's degree in Sociology at the University of Texas at Austin. Robin volunteers with various organizations through Chase Paymentech's Good Works volunteer program and Austin Volunteer Leadership Group.